WILL MAKE STATUTE OF CONFEDERATE WOMAN

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 6.—Miss Belle Kinney, of Nashville, signed a contract with the committee of confederate veterans appointed at the last reunion, held in Birmingham, for supplying the memorial statue to the Women of the Confederacy, a replica of which, it is contemplated, shall be placed upon the capitol grounds of each of the original confederate states. The price agreed to be paid Miss Kinney for her design is $5000, this to cover the cost of the first and each subsequent statue purchased, and the committee agrees to take not less than ten.

In the concluding competition which resulted in the selection of Miss Kinney's design there were only two models submitted, that of Miss Kinney and one by Louis Potter, a New York sculptor. The committee of veterans, headed by Gen. Julian S. Carr, of Durham, N. C., as chairman, spent some time in inspecting the two models and weighing the various points of each. The statue is to be of bronze, eight feet in height, and represents the goddess of Fame as the central figure, placing a wreath upon the head of the confederate woman, who is pictured as reclining, exquisitely featured, with an expression of sadness, typifying the self-sacrificing southern woman of war time.

COOK IS FIRED FROM OWN CLUB

He Established the Arctic Club of America and Is Dismissed.

New York, N. Y., Jan. 6.—The Arctic Club of America, founded by Frederick A. Cook and his supporters in the north pole controversy, last night dropped the name of the explorer from the roll of membership. The action of the directors was unanimous and followed hard on the heels of the explorer's summary dismissal from the council of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences two days ago. This strike from Dr. Cook almost the last vestige of scientific honors, only the degree of philosophy, conferred by the University of Copenhagen remaining.

BAD CHECK WORKED BY A SMOOTH MAN

Herald Pays Ten Dollars and Ten Cents for This News Item

Ten dollars and 10 cents is a pretty stiff price to pay for a news item and not a particularly exciting one at that, but that was the exact price that was paid for the following news story:

A man representing himself to be J. M. Smith came into The Herald office Tuesday evening and inquired the advertising rate on a classified ad, that he wished inserted. The rate was given and he wrote the ad, which read:

"Wanted—Two or three boys between 14 and 18. Good money for bright boys. No hard work. Call for G. M. Smith, ad. mgr. Smith-Humason Candy Co., 315 Texas street."

In payment for the ad, which was to appear for three days, he gave the desk man at The Herald business office a check for $12, payable to J. M. Smith and signed by the Smith-Humason Candy company. The Herald having had business dealings with this firm before, the check was accepted, the change made and the man who wanted the bright boys disappeared.

When all effort was made to cash the check, it was found that no such check had been drawn by anyone connected with the Smith-Humason company, which had not been operating for several months. The ad was killed and the $10.10 charged to experience in the form of profit and loss.

At the Chicago restaurant on South El Paso street the same man offered the same check in payment for a $3 meal ticket Tuesday at supper time. He ate 30 cents worth at the restaurant and gave the check in payment for the meal ticket. The clerk at the restaurant refused to cash the check, but said he would keep it until morning. The man then went out, came back and said he would get the check cashed at The Herald office and would return and pay for the meal. The meal ticket was signed by J. M. Smith, the same person who wanted the two or three bright boys. But there is no J. M. Smith known in El Paso and he cannot be located.

SHERIFF HALL TO VOTERS.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 6, 1910. After advising with my friends I have decided to ally myself with no faction and go in the primary for sheriff by myself. I am very friendly to a number of candidates who are denominated the "courtroom ring." I expect to vote for them. I am making the race at the earnest solicitation of a great number of my friends, and I am relying upon my record as a public official in the conduct of my office generally for a continuation of the support of a majority of the Democrats of El Paso county. I shall positively stay in this race to the finish and am deeply grateful for the confidence heretofore imposed in me.

RIO GRANDE IS A RIVER AGAIN

Flood Waters Are Coming Down—Flow Is 3000 Second Feet.

Within 24 hours the Rio Grande has evolved from an almost quiet mud puddle to a real live river. Today its bed is well filled with ice laden waters hurrying to the Gulf.

It is the warm time of a week ago which has caused the excess of winter water. Melted snow through New Mexico has swelled the river, the head waters only arriving here yesterday.

At the government gage at Selden, N. M., 3000 second feet are registered. The river is the highest for many months. Ice is also floating in the river in big chunks.

THE WEATHER

Forecasts.
 El Paso and vicinity: Tonight fair; continued cold. Friday fair with rising temperature.

New Mexico: Tonight fair; continued cold. Friday fair with rising temperature.

West Texas: Tonight fair; continued cold. Friday fair with rising temperature.

Weather Conditions.
 The southern low is moving from the Gulf of Mexico northward and is now apparently central in Alabama.

A narrow area of precipitation extends from the west gulf states northeastward to New England, with the following heavy amounts reported: Galveston, 1.26 inches; Memphis, 1.36 inches. West of a line from Del Rio to Buffalo the weather has remained fair during the past 24 hours, except in New Mexico and northern Montana.

To the west of the Mississippi the pressure is generally high, with the principal crest over Nevada.

In Texas and northeastward to the lake region, temperature falls of 20 or more degrees are noted, with corresponding rises in the Atlantic states.
